The A. H. S. Students of Today . . .

Astoria High's students of today will be Astoria's leaders and citizens of tomorrow. We are learning and preparing now for our future. Besides getting the education we will need, we are learning to work side by side, with faith in each other. Only men and women who have faith in one another are able to undertake the responsibilities of a democratic government—the self government by the people which is so symbolic of our country and freedom.

will be Astoria's Leaders of TOMORROW

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

MR. J. M. BURGESS

Mr. James Burgess, superintendent of Astoria Public Schools, came to Astoria from The Dalles last July. Mr. Burgess received his M. S. at the University of Oregon. He did his graduate work in education at Stanford University, California. He was superintendent of schools at Heppner, Oregon; then was with the Department of Education in Salem for five years. Mr. Burgess took over the superintendency at Milton-Freewater in 1934 and was there until 1945. He then took the job as superintendent at The Dalles for three years before coming to Astoria.

Under the guidance of Superintendent James Burgess, the city school system has progressed very well. Becoming effective at the opening of the school year was a change in the school organization from the six-three-three-plan to the six-two-four plan. Also new to the high school this year was the introduction of an assistant principal. Among the innovations of the year under the new administration is a testing program, which will develop in the future into an all-city program of testing. A well organized Career Day with thirty speakers was concrete evidence of Superintendent Burgess's interest in this department. To further aid the vocational minded the vocational program was enlarged in the shops and class rooms at the Airport. Night classes at college level for adults were promoted. Mr. Burgess encouraged students in the high school by his presence at their activities and by personally urging all students to participate in all school affairs, both scholastic and extracurricular.

WALTER CHRISTENSEN AND ROBERT BUSH

Principal Walter Christensen was born in Oakland, California. He received his high school education at Washington High School, Portland, Oregon, and then entered Pacific Lutheran College at Tacoma, Washington. Later he attended Lutheran College in Idaho. He took his graduate work at the University of Oregon. Mr. Christensen was principal at Astor Junior High School for fourteen years.

WALTER CHRISTENSEN
Principal of Astoria High School

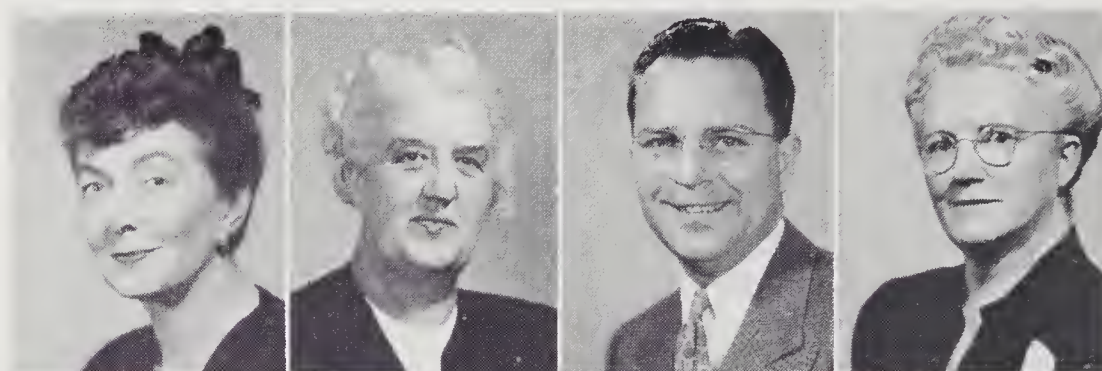

ROBERT BUSH
Vice-Principal of Astoria High School

Assistant principal Robert Bush was born and educated at Bemidji, Minnesota. After graduating from Bemidji High School, he entered the University of North Dakota and later attained a B. S. degree from Bemidji State Teacher's College. He has taken graduate work toward a Master's degree at the University of Oregon.

Astoria High took on the 'new look' last fall with new administrators, a group of new teachers, and two new classes—the Sophomores and the Freshmen. With Mr. Walter Christensen as principal and Mr. Robert Bush, vice-principal, the high school experienced changes in activities and records. An activity period was introduced in the fall to provide time for the various group meetings. This period also provided a study period for those not participating in meetings. A cumulative record card was selected which will show the student's grades, testing records, activities, and personal items from the time the student enters the first grade until he completes the twelfth grade. Interest in assemblies was stepped up by a series of class talent programs and department programs. Paralleling the Girls' League, a Boys' Booster Club was organized last fall. They are to form an intramural organization next year.

School started in September and here it is May. Others told us the year would fly by and it has. Graduation—it was a kind of goal to be reached before we could go on to college or get a job. It took us four years to reach this goal, but it wouldn't be traded for the world.

The class leaders were: Frank Franciscovich, president; Ronald Angberg, vice-president; Gerry Beemer, secretary; Judy Thompson, treasurer; and Richard Ruita, sergeant at arms.

In their Junior year the class proposed that the Astor Column be the crest of the rings and pins for a period of four years. This proposal was presented to the Sophomore class and was accepted. ## JUNIORS

The Junior Class, entering the halls of Astoria High in 1947, has come to the end of another eventful year. Last year, as Sophomores, under the leadership of David Edison, president; Bill Kuluris, vice-president; Lou Ann Lund, secretary; Pat Niemela, treasurer; and Jack Layton, sergeant at arms, the class carried on a successful year of activities. They sponsored the annual Soph Hop, under the theme of "Circus Daze". They also boasted four lettermen: Jack Layton, Bob Phillips, Paul Hawkins, and Chuck Soderberg, who won their letters in football.

This year the class was led by Dan Madden, president; Paul Hawkins, vice-president; Kathy Burgess, secretary; Dagney Pederson, treasurer; Dick Johnson, sergeant at arms; and Miss Smoots, adviser. With the production of a comedy, "Life of the Party" in April, under the direction of Miss Allen, they rounded out the year in full spirit. Their second special event of the year was the Junior Prom, which was held in May in Patriot Hall. Their contribution of ten members to the National Honor Society put the Juniors on the calendar of outstanding students. The Juniors can look forward to a very successful year as they step into the shoes of the Seniors and take over the ruling hand.

Although we're Sophs, we responded along with the Frosh to the calls of the upperclassmen because it was also our first year in the school on the hill. It is said of many things that the first is the toughest, but, at the end of our first year, we feel it hasn't been bad at all.

The Soph Class came through their first year with flying calars. Walt Jacobsen, president, and his council, advised by Miss Anne Bergman, efficiently carried on the business of the class and caaperated well in all schaal activities. Assisting Walt in his duties were Rusty Hardesty, vice-president; Jaanne Taikka, secretary; Mary Jean McGregor, treasurer; and Duke Windsar, sergeant at arms. The annual Saph Hap was one of the best and revealed what can be expected of the class in the future. Their student body assembly was an averwhelming success and shawed much planning. They aut-spelled the upper-classmen and consisntently aut-yelled all classes.

The first class of Freshmen to enter Astoria High School since 1924 set an example that will keep the following classes on their toes to live up to. During the year, they have participated in many activities and have shown by their interest that they are an active part of the high school. A freshman rally squad was elected. Two majorettes were chosen and the Fingerlings had a busy sports schedule. Many of the boys earned their numerals in football and basketball, and participated in baseball and track. They sponsored an assembly, took honors in a spelling contest and, highlighting the year, held a Freshmen Fratricide in March.

STATE QUARTET WINNERS

Despite being organized only two months and entering state competition on Friday, May 13, the Boys' Quartet brought top honors to Astoria High when they walked off with one of the two superior ratings given to Oregon quartets at the state competition for high school groups at Klamath Falls.

It all began two months ago when Miss Isabel Smaats first tried the fellows' voices together as a quartet. They were Merrill Weijala, first tenor, Gordon de Leon, second tenor, Jerry Cowan, first bass, and Ray Stansbury, second bass. Darlene Bumala was the accompanist. Since their first appearance at the American Legion Auxiliary, April 12, they were constant "shaw-stealers".

They appeared at the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Optimist, Hi-Time, Junior Prom, County Talent Quest, All-City Musicals, and in the district competition at Hillsboro and the final leap, state competition at Klamath Falls.

Darlene, Gordon, Jerry, and Merrill are seniors, leaving Ray to form the nucleus for next year. Their main asset is very simple and plain—they just like to sing.

MUSIC

Highlighting this year's activities was the formal presentation of the colorful purple and gold uniforms. Gordon de Leon, Bond president, accepted the uniforms from Rectorian John Verschueren in a public ceremony at the Armory, February 19. The Bond, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Withnell, city school music supervisor, provided the musical note preceding the presentation, with the stirring "The Thunderer", by Sousa. Twirling and strutting in shiny white uniforms, the three Majorettes also performed along with the Bond. They are another new addition and were trained by Mr. Withnell.

Besides the presentation ceremony, many other activities were participated in by the thirty-three members, such as the annual Band concert, pep rallies, and games. But above all, the District competition at Hillsboro gave them the prestige that they had striven for for the past two years. Last fall the Bond chartered a bus to Portland to hear the Marine Corps Band give its concert. This occasion stimulated an interest in the Astoria organization to compete with other schools.

The Christmas Musicales at the Armory was proof that the Band can combine with choral groups and give a good performance. An example of this was the combined choruses of Astoria schools and the Band presenting the finale, "Silent Night".

Its main appearances of the year were at the high school Christmas program and the city-wide Christmas Musicale. They practised regularly one period each day.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR PLAYS

Ha-ha-ha! What a play! With Miss Maud Crouter as director, the Senior class presented a rollicking comedy which will go down in the annals of Astoria High as one of the greatest. The plot centered around the Hewlitt twins, portrayed by Carol Carruthers and Bill Brooks, and their escapades. They succeeded in breaking into several houses, marrying off the chief of police, and nearly everything else they set out to do.

With the Senior Class production to equal or surpass the Juniors began rehearsals on their comedy. They cleared the hurdle with ease by presenting "Life of the Party". This play with its fine characterization will long be remembered for its many laughs. It seems that the Hughes' life really began when they moved to Butterfield. This amusing production was under the direction of Miss Zoe Allen.

ZEPHYRUS

The 1949 Zephyrus Staff was faced with the problem of finding room to cover new activities and classes without sacrificing new features and quality. Editor Morilyn Preston, aided by her assistant, Larry Gorrett, unfoiling staff members, and adviser, Miss Curry, hurdled the obstacles and came through with a slightly larger book than last year's, plus additional cartoons, snap pages, and other features. Beverly Gibson and Rodney Polo, advised by Mr. Jensen, were the faithfuls on the art work. Charlotte Berry and Jaanne Abel found time to edit captions, and Larry Garrett's camera snapped 'em in action. Janice Ostrom, Bab Layton, and Jock Beyers were invaluable on the copy angle.

On Arden Larson, Business Manager, and her adviser, Miss Lamb, rested the burden of meeting the increased cost. Through ice cream sales, dances, and an advertising scheme evolved from the theme of the Zephyrus, the necessary funds were raised.

The Ball Room Livewires made a really good showing on Zephyrus subscriptions.

The highlight of the year was the six-page Christmas issue. During Activity Period the Cubs were trained for next year by editing and mimeographing the "Cub Times".

Quill and Scroll, high school journalistic honorary, starting the year with only one member, Ellen Koski, added fourteen members in the spring term. Their activities included the annual March of Dimes Dance, an after-game dance sponsored jointly with the Zephyrus, and the usual Zephyrus picture auction at the end of the year. TORCHY HARDESTY, Sophomore, made a very excellent showing under the bockboards.

WALT JACOBSEN, Sophomore, was a smooth player with plenty of fire. accuracy.

DICK MORSE, Seniar, the team's spark-plug, o good scrapper, and an accurate shot.

DUKE WINDSOR, Saphomare, made o fine showing this year ond shaws much pramise for the future.

RICHARD WONG ,Senior, made a wonderful showing as an oll-round player.

The Fighting Fishermen made a record of 17 games won and 16 lost, making a little better than .500 average. Highlights of the season were the home series with Solem, the Tillamook games, which lost the Fishermen their bid for the tournament, and the remarkable tally of 28 individual points scored by John Fronsén against Seaside. John now has the AHS all-time one-game high scoring record, breaking the previous record of 27 points set by Ted Sorpolo.

The JV's also come through with about a .500 average. All the JV's made their letters. Their main event was the trip to The Dolles.

The Fingerlings really got more than their share of luck this season, losing only three games. Both the JV's and the Fingerlings have promising material for next year's varsity.

The five Sophomores on the varsity squad also have garnered much valuable experience and together with Dove Edison, the Varsity's only junior, will make the nucleus for next year's team. While they did not go to the tournament they certainly deserve a great deal of credit for their excellent sportsmanship throughout the year.
